The Empire State Building rises above busy New York City streets at sunset.

A community is a group of people. The group might live, work, or play together. A community can also be a place. People live in different types of places. Read about three types. Which is your community most like?

Urban Community

This is a city. Many people live here. They can walk to stores or to school. They can also ride a train or bus.

Suburban Community

Suburbs are near cities. Homes are farther apart. Some houses have yards. People drive cars to get around.

Rural Community

There are fewer people here. There is more land than there are homes. People might live and work on a farm.
